The SP-Index ONSRA

OVERVIEW

Traditional screening companies rarely hold the necessary skills and technical expertise to carry out effective online social profiling and enhanced online security checks – this is a specialist activity usually afforded only to IT or social media companies.

An individual's online networking activities and general online profile provides valuable insight into their current and historic network connections and the SP-Index ONSRA fills the important gap which traditional screening companies cannot.

The ONSRA is the perfect tool to ensure that your organisation adopts every possible method available to protect itself from terrorism and fraud and to keep your customers, workforce and the general public safe at all times.

Does any member of your staff require an enhanced security check, DBS check or Airside Pass? If so, then adopt the ONSRA to modernise and strengthen your screening processes.

WHAT IS ONSRA?

ONSRA stands for Online Network Security Risk Assessment and is a unique and specialised report provided only by the SP-Index in relation to the online profile and connections for an individual.

The ONSRA is an in-depth review of an individual's online network in order to identify and highlight possible risks to the security of the recruiting organisation, customers, or general public. The ONSRA check complies with all UK legislation including Data Protection, Aviation and Maritime Security Acts and Anti-Terrorism Acts, and is particularly focused towards identifying connections to Proscribed Organisations. For ultimate protection we identify those with online behaviours leaning towards violence and threatening behaviour, racism, discrimination and harassment.

In addition, the ONSRA will identify inconsistencies within an individual's online profile by screening information across hundreds of social networking sites and millions of individual web pages, bringing together the information into a consolidated and easy to interpret report.
